Urban Essentials. For the transitional fall season, pants leans towards versatility and comfort, with a blend of classic styles and contemporary elements. This season, pants keep exploring the baggy trend and look at tailored interpretations or low-rise denims as the leading items. The tailored notion with clean and relaxed lines ensures a balance between comfort and elegance. At the same time, this taste for casual femininity is expressed in straight boyfriend silhouettes, offering a timeless and streamlined look, and casual bermuda styles for a contemporary unisex notion. For fall, the leather pant is manifesting further as well and adds a touch of edge to any outfit. More feminine, hot pants and emerging capri styles add a sixtie's chic and slim-fit allure to the mix.

This report is based on Livetrend data extracted from Instagram about street style during September and October 2023, analysing the visibility and growth of the trends compared to te same period last year. The percentages show the visibility evolution year on year.
